5.2 High School Cell Phone Changes

High School principals Erin Davis (CHS) and Alex Shrewsberry (NWHHS) presented proposed changes regarding student cell phones for the upcoming school year.

Ohio House Bill 250 requires all school districts to place an emphasis on limiting cell phone use and reducing cell phone related distractions in classrooms. There are exemptions for students who require a cell phone to monitor a health condition or for student learning as determined by school officials. All schools must adopt a policy by July 2025.

Studies have shown that social media use by adolescents results in poorer sleep quality, anxiety and depression. The mere presence of smartphones diminishes the attention spans and the ability to concentrate. Defined periods of separation from the devices are recommended to reduce interruptions and to increase available cognitive capacity. A cell phone free school environment would help maximize instructional time, focus students on learning, reduce behavioral issues, improve academic outcomes and build community and school interaction.

YONDR is an industry leader in phone free spaces, including schools. The YONDR system includes magnetically locked pouches to remove access to personal electronic devices during the entire school day while allowing the students to maintain ownership of their own property. In emergency situations the school will provide unlocking devices as quickly as possible. School employees including office personnel, administrators and counselors will be able to unlock devices upon request. If a student is non-compliant with the locking YONDR pouch the student will be subject to the code of conduct regarding personal communication devices.

The next steps in the process are to communicate with district staff, families and students. Schools may need to host listening/feedback/question sessions with families and students. If approved by the Board, the system will be ready for use on the first day of school.

Discussion:

- Mr. Detzel: What about cell phone usage by the staff? If the student's phones are locked up, is the staff still permitted to use their personal cell phones during school hours?

Mrs. Davis: The expectation is that they are a role model in the classroom. The whole goal is to get kids learning and kids are not learning if the teacher is at the front of the classroom on their cell phone. So while we would not require staff to lock their phones in a bag, they are expected to be a role model and to do what we would expect of the students.

- Mrs. Taulbee: Darrell, at a past meeting you indicated that if this program proceeds, that the costs would be covered by a federal grant. What grant did we receive?

Mr. Yater: It's a current Title IV grant that we already have and we are able to use some of those funds for this initiative. In addition to that, there were some unallocated district funds used so that we could implement this at both high schools at the same time.

Mrs. Taulbee: Is that grant allocated annually?

Mr. Yater: It's an annual grant.

Mrs. Taulbee: On the vendor contracts it says we're paying $78,000 that's shown as an additional cost outside of the current budget. So is that what we're spending outside of the grant?

Mr. Yater: No, that's reallocation of the funds. The money that had been allocated to the general fund is being reallocated to this project. When the high schools came to us and said that they wanted to do this, we felt it was important to support them in making sure that we could do that with the funds we had available.

Mrs. Taulbee: And even with buildings literally falling down, we think this is the best use of funds?

Mr. Yater: Yes. These funds couldn't be used for building projects or anything around brick and mortar. Around $50,000 is from the federal grant and the remainder is funded through the reallocation of unspent human resources funds.

Mrs. Taulbee: So what cuts did we make for this?

Mr. Yater: The money we reallocated was from the human resources budget and had been focused around recruitment, retention and supporting some of our diversity efforts.

- Mrs. Taulbee: You said you're still working through the process but do you know how many spare bags you will have for when they get broken or lost? How quickly can they be replaced?

Mr. Kuhnline: There will be a quantity of extra bags in the initial shipment. As they're needed, students will be charged for the cost of the replacements and the supply will be replenished using those replacement fees.

- Mrs. Taulbee: How quickly will you be able to unlock all bags during a true emergency?

Mrs. Davis: There is one magnet per 60 bags and we're working to find the best way to deploy the magnets to have an efficient unlocking process. We're still working on the final plan.

Mr. Shrewsberry: As we do our drills at the beginning of the school year we can test our processes and the deployment of the magnets.

- Mrs. Taulbee: What will you do if a parent disputes having to pay the replacement fee because a student broke their bag to access their phone thinking they were in an emergency situation?

Mrs. Davis: There's going to be a learning curve and it's going to be important that we educate both our staff and our students. If we're having a drill or go into instructional lockdown we need to have clear communication around what is happening.

Mr. Yater: In any potential emergency situation it's really important for the students to pay attention to the adult they're with. That's who's going to guide them to safety. That adult is still going to have their cell phone and they will be receiving information about what is going on and they will communicate with the students.

- Mrs. Taulbee: What's the plan to allow students and parents to get messages to each other quickly during the school day?

Mr. Kuhnline: In speaking with administrators at other schools who have implemented this program, they all stated that they had to go above and beyond to earn the trust of families and assure them that they can still get in touch with their students. We're going to work extra hard to reassure parents that when they call the front office to get in touch with their child, the answer is yes and the answer is quick. It's something that we're all going to have to work with our schools to implement. It's going to feel different than when you could text your student and say "hey when does your practice end?" and you get an immediate response.

- Mrs. Taulbee: How has teacher support been so far? What has their feedback been?

Mr. Shrewsberry: Everyone is bought in and behind limiting cellphones in the classroom and this is a resource to try to achieve that. They have voiced some of the same concerns brought up tonight, but there's been a lot of positive feedback about having this as a resource.

- Mrs. Taulbee: How do you plan to measure if this system is a success at the end of the school year?

Mrs. Davis: We'll look at the use of those personal communication device codes in the code of conduct. We'll evaluate engagement within the classroom and get teacher feedback.

- Mrs. Taulbee: Will Airpods (earbuds) be banned as well?

Mrs. Davis: The pouch itself does not block the signal. A smartwatch or earbuds will still be able to be connected to the device. While nothing has been finalized yet, if the accessory device is being used with your cell phone (for example: texting through a smartwatch or listening to music with earbuds) then that will fall under the personal communication device portion of the code of conduct.

- Mr. Heather: Congratulations on taking the first step in trying to restrict cell phone usage. I'd personally like to see them stay in the lockers. That way the students can get them when they need them and at the end of the school day. It's incredible how the culture has changed. For decades parents would have to call the office to get ahold of their students and would rarely contact them during school. Now, many parents are like shadows and want to check up on their kids all the time. I'd like to see one of the pouches but I trust that they're small and easy to operate.
- Mrs. Taulbee: Do the kids keep the bags overnight and continue to carry it and bring it to school each day like the Chromebooks?

Mrs. Davis: Yes, that's correct.

- Mrs. Taulbee: We already passed a new cell phone policy earlier this summer? Why this change to YONDR bags now?

Mr. Yater: After we passed the initial policy, I spoke with other superintendents who've implemented the program and saw very positive results. Then when I spoke to Erin (Davis) she said that she was interested and had already been looking into the program. I wanted to make sure that we could support her, and when Alex (Shrewsbury) came onboard in July and said he wanted to be a part of it too, I wanted to make sure we could make it happen for both schools.

- Mrs. Taulbee: How will kids stay engaged in study hall? Isn't that the biggest period of cell phone usage?

Mrs. Davis: In general we try to limit study hall on a student's schedule. We want to put them in classes where they're going to be exposed to different opportunities. That said, we've talked about what this will look like and how we can encourage students to use their time wisely.

- Mr. Gilbert: I think you're asking for trouble by having kids take these home at night. What's to prevent a kid from having a dummy phone in the pouch and having their real phone in their back pocket and then having access to it all day?

Mrs. Davis: I was very skeptical when I first heard about this and the pilot program at Hughes High School. But after speaking with the company and people who've used it, I've come around. If the whole point is keeping cell phones away and out of students' hands during the day, then regardless of whether it's in the pouch or not, if it's working as a deterrent from them getting it out then I still think we're going to see a major decrease in usage. We need to drive home the message and help students understand that it's not that we're trying to keep them from communicating with friends and family, it's making sure that they're using their time wisely and taking ownership. Bringing their pouch to and from school is something they're going to have to be responsible for just like their Chromebook, every single day.

Mr. Gilbert: This is going to completely alter some of the kids' behaviors. There will definitely be kids going through phone withdrawal and that may bring additional issues. I think it's going to be a hard adjustment at the beginning of the year. I'm in favor of the pouches but I think, as you are aware, that it comes with some additional operational issues.

Mrs. Davis: It's going to be hard. I became an administrator when cell phones were banned but we didn't have pouches. It's vital to start communicating with staff, parents and students as soon as possible to give us as much time to hear these kinds of questions so that we can work through solutions. We want to answer these questions as clearly as possible so that everyone knows what the expectations are. It's going to be hard but our hope is that we'll see some real benefits in the end.

- Mr. Gilbert: I think the key to this is going to be teacher engagement and supervision. There needs to be consistent enforcement for this to be a success.

Mrs. Davis: We have to get our staff on board so that we're all saying the same thing all the time and we're supporting each other. It's hard to do at a place as big as Colerain High School but we all need to be on the same page.

- Mr. Gilbert: What if the students figure out how to unlock the bag? Can they buy a magnet off amazon to unlock it?

Mr. Shrewsberry: When we first started looking at this program I looked for all the ways to break into the bag. There are magnets on amazon that will open the bag and it can be slammed on the desk and sometimes it will pop open. Teachers will need to be on the lookout. If the bag is out on the desk that should be a red flag, there's no reason for them to have the bag on the desk or in their hand when it's locked. It's something we'll have to keep an eye on.

- Mrs. Slattery: Are the pouches big enough to put a phone and smartwatch into at the same time? Is that something we can require?

Mr. Shrewsberry: That's one of the points we're most hung up on right now. In gathering feedback from other schools there is a concern that if we were to take away the watches as well it could derail the program.

- Mrs. Slattery: Will you send out data to the families about the success other districts have had using the pouch so that they're more likely to buy-in to it?

Mr. Kuhnline: Yes, the drafts of the communication we're planning to send out does include some of that data so that's the first thing parents, families and staff are reading. Other schools have reported reductions in failure rates, reductions in physical altercations, reductions in office referrals and even saw an uptick in students reporting issues through school staff. We see what's happening with our kids and how they're struggling and we feel that it's worth it to try to be bolder in finding a solution.

Struble Elementary

- The 5th grade students were surprised with a “Glow Day” at the end of the school year to celebrate all of their hard work during the 4th quarter, especially during testing. Teachers Kate Triantos and Allison Lackner decked out their classrooms in neon and students worked to find text evidence with highlighters that glow under blacklight. Students also completed a glow-themed Math Escape Room and learned about bioluminescent animals in nature. They worked together in teams to complete a STEM challenge to see who could make the longest chain out of a single piece of neon paper.

Colerain Middle

- Student athlete Eli Bogan was the 2023-24 recipient of the Archie Griffin Award. The Griffin Award for Sportsmanship is given to one male athlete each year who displays integrity, leadership, a positive attitude, academic discipline, humility and volunteerism.

Pleasant Run Middle

- Students in 6th, 7th, and 8th grade had an opportunity to participate at Kings Island’s Festival of Music. This event gave select music ensembles the opportunity to perform at Kings Island. After their performance, each group received a participation plaque. B) Butler Tech Update

6.2 Butler Technology Update by Board Representative

Board Member Jim Detzel presented Butler Tech updates as follows:

We will look to schedule a future board meeting at one of the Butler Tech locations. Additional information to follow in the coming months.

C) Legislative Update

6.3 Legislative Update by Board Representative

Board Member Chris Heather presented legislative updates as follows:

The Ohio state legislature continues to be in summer recess.

Ohio's school voucher program continues to grow. In 2023 there were 68,000 students that took advantage of the program and that number increased to 124,000 students in 2024. That's the equivalent of 16 Northwest Local School Districts. The cost to the state has exceeded $1 billion. The program is expected to continue growing.

7.0 PUBLIC PRESENTATION

A) Report from Any Employee Organization

7.1 Employee Comments

The Board President asked if there was a representative from any employee organization who wished to speak.

No employees were present to speak.

B) Community Communications

7.2 Community Comments

The Board President acknowledged audience members who completed a "Request to Address the Board" card and read the NWLSD Board Policy, Public Participation at Board Meetings (169.1), which can be viewed through the following link:

The Northwest Board of Education welcomes the opportunity to listen to Northwest Local School District resident's comments, suggestions, and concerns on educational issues. It is important to remember that the Board conducts the meetings in public, but the meetings are not public forums. The intent of the meetings is to allow the Board to complete needed business. Per Board Policy (169.1), each submission will be given three (3) minutes to speak on agenda items of any topic during "Community Comments." However, no more than fifteen (15) minutes will be devoted to public participation unless the Board votes unanimously to continue the discussion. No response to this submission will occur from any Board member or district administration during this time. Once the fifteen (15) minutes' time frame is over, appropriate follow up by the district administration may occur at a later time if warranted.

Diana Herbe (Waycross Community Media): I was a teacher here in the seventies and early eighties, many years ago, but I'm here tonight as a representative for Waycross Community Media which provides public access to Greenhills, Forest Park, Springfield Township, Colerain Township, Northwest Schools, and Winton Woods Schools. I want to talk a little bit about some of our staff changeovers and also about some of the services Waycross provides. Earlier this year our former executive director Chip Bergquist retired and was replaced by government access coordinator Dana Gagnon. In March, longtime board President Joe Orndorff, who had served for 42 years, from the time that Waycross was created, decided to retire and the board graciously selected me as their new board president.

Waycross provides public access on four channels. One of them is the government channel which covers these meetings, as well as the meetings in the other jurisdictions and that's on Spectrum channel 43 and altafiber channel 85. The educational access channel covers all the sporting events and concerts in both this district and Winton Woods and can be found on Spectrum channel 4 and altafiber 854. The two public access channels can be found on Spectrum channels 8 and 15 and altafiber 850 and 851. These two channels cover a lot of the community events like Greenhills' Concerts on the Green and Forest Park's Party in the Park and Jazz in the Park which is coming up this Saturday at 6:00 pm at Central Park. It also includes programming that's created by students and citizens who attend workshops and create programs after receiving training from our professional staff and volunteers. What you may not know is that Waycross provides a lot of other services as well. In addition to the training, Waycross rents equipment to the public, hosts a summer camp workshop for students and maintains access to a huge programming archive dating back 40 years. We're here to provide access and help to you and your citizens. You can reach Waycross by calling (513) 825-2429 or by contacting us at info@waycross.org Much of our content is available to stream online at www.waycross.tv

Discussion

- Mr. Gilbert: I made a referral to somebody who was possibly interested in working here and she went through the interview process, but didn't get the job here in the district. She later got a call back offering her a special education job and she's not licensed to do that. Can you walk me through how somebody that's not licensed can do a job that, for all I know, requires a license?

Ms. Bunte: Yes, given the teacher shortage in the state and across the country right now, the Ohio Department of Education and Workforce has created what is considered alternate pathways. We have several teachers using these alternate pathways, one of which is a supplemental endorsement where you're licensed as a teacher in a given area and then you essentially tack on a license through additional coursework. The state allows you to teach in that area while taking the coursework. You have two years in which to complete the courses and that's considered a supplemental license; you're adding it to an existing license.

- Mr. Heather: There was a law that was passed where non-teachers/non-certified people with advanced degrees that knew the topic that they were going to be teaching could be qualified to teach. Have you had any applicants from that group?

Ms. Bunte: Not necessarily through that program, but we've had people come through on alternate pathways similar to the supplemental endorsement process. It's different however because these individuals are people who may have an undergrad degree in math or an undergrad degree in chemistry and they'll have three or four years to complete required educational coursework. They're required to pass a certain number of tests, it's a seven-step process. At the conclusion of the seven steps they are able to achieve licensure. We have several people in that situation, who have worked in industry or have degrees not necessarily related to education, who have come into the workforce and we are incredibly thankful for them.

10.2 2024-25 New MS Elective Courses for Transitions Academy

The instructional team and administrator at Transitions Academy requested that the following elective online courses be made available for middle school students beginning with the 2024-25 school year:

Online Learning and Digital Citizenship (Grades 6-8)

Computer Science (Grades 6-8)

Health Quest (Grades 6-7)

Course Abstracts are attached for each of these courses. All three of these courses already exist within our Online Learning platform (Edgenuity), which has previously been approved by the Board of Education, and with approval will be activated for use by teachers and students at Transitions Academy beginning with the 2024-25 school year.

An opportunity for parents to preview the resource and provide feedback was provided on June 24th.

Discussion:

- Mrs. Taulbee: How is the transition to online going for Transitions Academy?

Mr. Yater: Current Transitions Academy administrator, Andrew (Renneker), and former administrator, Cristen (Casteel), are having a lot of meetings about what the transition is going to look like. We'll be communicating the changes with families to try to make sure that everyone is informed about what's going on. With some of the adjustments of the CSO construction schedule, we'll still be able to have a blended model for next school year with some in-person learning. The 2024-25 school year will be more of a transition year to the fully online model, with this year will be a step down model.

- Mrs. Taulbee: One concern I have is kids who are not expected to be able to be home by themselves all day (learning online).

Mr. Yater: Our middle school students are already front loaded so that even when we go online they will have more in-person than high school. This year, we'll be able to maintain mostly in-person learning for the majority of our middle school kids as well.

- Mrs. Taulbee: Have we thought about the ability for them to come and get food each week?

Mr. Yater: Yes, our food service department, through the pandemic and over the summer, run a summer food program so they can always connect with the food services program for meals.

10.3 2024-25 Fee Revision

The attachment containing the full list of fees can be viewed as an online attachment in ESB.

Discussion:

- Mrs. Taulbee: Do those have to be sent off for repair like we do with the Chromebooks or is there someone on site who can fix them?

Mr. Yater: If they're being replaced because they're completely damaged then they'll be replaced. If it's able to be repaired with a minor adjustment we can do that internally, otherwise we just have to pay for a new bag.

10.5 Golden Pass Discount Pricing SY24-25

The superintendent requested approval for the SY 24-25 event pricing for the Senior Golden Pass. High school sporting events (that require ticketing) will be $5 and the price for middle school sporting events (that require ticketing) will be $2.00. The Senior Golden Pass is for individuals who are 65 years of age or older.

Discussion:

- Mrs. Taulbee: The Board has talked about having some type of free lifetime pass for retired teachers, is something like that in the works?

Mr. Yater: Yes, we're working on that process but there are still details to work out like how to go back and get it to the folks who have already left.

Mr. Heather: Around 20 years ago there was a veterans pass, has there been any discussion about bringing that back?

Mr. Yater: There hasn't, but as we continue to have discussions about the senior pass and the retired teacher/staff pass we can talk about bringing back the veterans pass as well.

12.0 ITEMS FOR INFORMATION AND OR DISCUSSION

A) Personnel

12.1 2024-25 Transportation Employee Handbook

The 2024-25 Transportation Employee Handbook was presented for information by the Human Resources Department.

The handbook can be viewed as an online attachment on ESB with today's date. The handbooks will be presented for approval at the next regularly scheduled Board of Education meeting.

13.0 SUPERINTENDENT'S UPDATE

13.1 Superintendent's Update

The Superintendent's Update was presented by Darrell Yater as follow:

I want to give a special thank you to our first responders. Last week we were able to do a critical incident training at one of our buildings. We had Colerain Township police and fire, and the Hamilton County communications center participate. It allowed us to really test systems, run protocols, and get feedback. We had over 50 staff who volunteered to be there so they could experience what they've been trained to do and give us feedback in specific situations on how that's working. It was an amazing day, our first responders are amazing and we can't thank them enough for bringing everyone together and running scenarios so we can make sure that in a real crisis situation everyone who needs to communicate is communicating and maintaining safety. As part of the process, after each critical incident scenario we put someone different in front of tv cameras as a mock press conference to give people that experience, with the adrenaline flowing, of talking through it in an appropriate way for the public. Waycross brought in some tv cameras so that staff members could really feel what it's like to be in front of cameras with lights and microphones. A lot of partners came together to make sure that we were able to test systems and that we're as prepared as possible if, God forbid, something were to happen in the future.

We're continuing to debrief, gather feedback and process everything that we've learned. We're going to have debriefing sessions with our first responders to make sure that we're cross referencing and throughout the year new learnings will be shared through our staff meetings so that everyone stays informed if we have to make changes to protocols. We want what we learned to continue to inform our safety protocols and procedures as we move forward. It was an amazing event and we've already talked about what we will do at next year's training so that we can continue to grow in our safety and security measures.

Some important dates are coming up. August 2nd there is a classified hiring fair here at the central office from 11:00 am - 1:00 pm. Bus drivers, classroom assistants and food service positions are all available. Walk-ins are welcome. On August 7th we have our Back to School Health and Safety Fair. In the past, we've always done it at the mall, but this year we're hosting the Health and Safety Fair at Northwest High School. We're going to be using various parts of the building to make sure that we can get all of our families in to do all the same things that we've always done: the dental checks, medical screenings, haircuts, and free backpacks and school supplies. The entire event will still go on as it always has just in a new location. It will be August 7th from 9:00 to noon at Northwest High School.

As we get closer to August, it is getting closer to the first day of school. We will welcome students back on the 19th and 20th for our phase-in days. More communication will be coming from the buildings about those phase-ins but we are excited to welcome kids back beginning August 19th to start another great year.

Discussion:

- Mrs. Taulbee: About a month ago I brought up an idea about using the bricks from Colerain Elementary School for a fundraising project. Somebody had presented it to me and I thought it was a good idea. Since then we've seen people on Facebook posting that they're taking bricks from the dumpsters. Is there any progress on possibly making that into a fundraiser?

Mr. Yater: Yes, we actually held a bunch of bricks back and locked them away. The bricks that were in the dumpsters were supposed to be hauled away but apparently they loaded them too full and they couldn't take them right away. They had to bring in another dumpster and off-load some to get them out of there. We're working with the boosters to see if it's something they'd be interested in doing as a fundraiser and also working through some other groups if they wanted to use them as a fundraiser.

- Mrs. Taulbee: Talawanda School District has officially announced that they're leaving the SWOC (Southwest Ohio Conference). What is the plan for Northwest athletics?

Mr. Yater: Talawanda has said that they're leaving so as of now that leaves three districts in the SWOC. The SWOC executive committee is meeting this fall to continue to talk about what the next steps are in terms of growing the league or merging the league. Those conversations are happening right now but no decision has been made.

14.0 OTHER BOARD ITEMS

14.1 Board Members' Comments

Mr. Heather: I wanted to say how pleased I am with the work done at Colerain High School at the flagpole plaza. It looks so much better and I think that was money well spent. I encourage everybody to go over and take a look, it really creates a much better first impression for people walking up the steps into Colerain High School.

Mr. Detzel: I want to thank Diana (Herbe) from Waycross. Thank you for giving us that information. I also want to thank Erin (Davis), Alex (Shrewsberry), and Jake (Kuhnline). You guys did a good job explaining all that and I know there's going to be some push back and there'll be some hurdles that you're going to have to jump over but I think it's going to be something positive. It may take six months but I think it'll work out, so good job.

Ms. Slattery: I'm very excited about the Yondr program. Somewhere I read that the average teenager gets 150 notifications in an hour so I don't know how they focus on anything. I think this will really be a big step in the right direction. It was also a pleasure to get to see the new administrators and put a face with the name.

Mr. Gilbert: I'd like to welcome Jake and everyone else who was introduced tonight. There are a lot of new faces.

Mrs. Taulbee: I'm excited to start the school year and want to remind parents to go online and elect your transportation. You do have to go online and say if you need bus transportation or not. You also need to go online and update your student information. I'm excited to see everyone at the Back to School Fair at Northwest. I see kinks being worked out every day on the new website so hopefully it is going well and will continue to be a success.
